There is no better time than now to invest in the future of Washington State University. This year has been truly extraordinary as we welcomed our beloved University’s tenth president, Elson S. Floyd, Ph.D. With his leadership and the solid foundation created by the leaders before us, WSU enters an era of uncompromised excellence and accountability in all that we do—in the classroom, in the laboratories, in athletic competition, and in the opportunities WSU creates for the citizens of the state of Washington and beyond.

It is thanks in large part to the dedication and commitment of our loyal donors and volunteers that we are at this exciting transition in WSU’s proud history. The generous support of our alumni and friends is preparing students across the state for success in the global marketplace and providing tools for research, development, and growth. At Washington State University we are reaching for the highest levels of distinction and changing the world. The time to be a Cougar is today. The continuing support of our alumni, friends, and corporate partners coupled with our shared commitment to excellence will be the key to Washington State University’s success now and in the future.
DEAR FRIENDS,

With my first academic year as president of Washington State University well under way, I am energized by the quality of our students, the talent of our faculty and staff, and the unfailing passion of our loyal alumni and friends. Washington State University is an essential driving force in the progress and success of our students, industries, state, and nation in a rapidly changing global society. WSU is poised for even greater heights within this challenging new landscape.

As we reflect on the many achievements in fiscal year 2007, we are reminded that our past accomplishments are the foundation upon which we will build future success. In the coming months and years, WSU will embark on multiple paths that intersect in a single goal—the continued transformation of WSU into a premier university that advances economic, social, and cultural progress, and serves the needs of the state of Washington and the world. We will continue to implement this plan with an even greater focus on globalization, a robust pursuit of research, and enhanced graduate and professional education on our campuses. We will do all of this while continuing to provide our students with the best undergraduate and graduate experiences possible.

Essential to WSU’s ability to achieve greatness will be the success of our comprehensive fund-raising effort now in progress. Critical to the success of this effort is the continued generous support of our many alumni, friends, and corporate and foundation partners, like you, whose contributions make an enormous difference for WSU’s students, faculty, research, and programs. As we celebrate the record fund-raising year of 2007, I hope you will join me as we help Washington State University realize its tremendous potential in the years to come.

Sincerely,

Elson S. Floyd, Ph.D.
President, Washington State University
DEAR SUPPORTERS
OF WASHINGTON STATE UNIVERSITY,

Washington State University and the Washington State University Foundation experienced a banner year, with more than $92 million in total fund-raising activity in fiscal year 2007. In addition to reaching the high-water mark for private support, the WSU Foundation’s endowment continues to perform at a high level, increasing $53.4 million in FY 2007 to surpass $316.7 million as of June 30.

The generous contributions from each and every one of our donors and the leadership of our dedicated volunteers directly impact our University in myriad ways through scholarships, graduate fellowships, faculty support, funding for innovative academic programs, and construction of world-class facilities. WSU’s ability to provide a quality undergraduate experience and to enable cutting-edge research at a public land-grant research institution is inextricably linked to the level of support from donors like you.

It takes an incredible effort to produce a year like the WSU Foundation recently experienced. Although we realized tremendous success in fiscal year 2007, we believe this represents only a glimpse of the success we have yet in store. On behalf of the WSU Foundation and the students, faculty, and staff of Washington State University, thank you for your leadership and commitment, and for your continuing support in the years to come.

Sincerely,

Brenda Wilson-Hale
Interim Vice President, University Development
Senior Vice President, WSU Foundation

Washington State University athletic scholarships offer students more than just an opportunity to compete and excel in one of the nation’s elite conferences. For Daven Harmeling, a health and fitness education major and forward on the electrifying 2006-07 Cougar men’s basketball team, his journey has become the experience of a lifetime.

As Daven describes one of the team’s breakthrough moments—a December 2006 victory over No. 18 Gonzaga—he credits his teammates’ years of hard work, quality coaching, and loyal fan support.

“There’s no better feeling than having great fans...Nothing means more than playing in front of a house full of Cougs,” Daven says.

As excited fans stormed the hardwood of Friel Court following the Cougar’s emotional 77-67 victory, Daven and his teammates knew this was just the beginning. It had taken the team years of building a foundation and “knocking on the door” of success before they finally broke through.

Led by first-year WSU Head Coach Tony Bennett, the team went on to grab 26 wins to tie the 1941 national runner-up squad for the most wins in school history. The Cougars made their first NCAA Tournament appearance in 13 years, and posted their first NCAA Tournament win since 1983 with a first-round victory over Oral Roberts University, before finally falling in double overtime to Vanderbilt.

Just a year prior to the team’s breakthrough season, Daven recalls sitting on the bench with his arm in a sling. After dislocating his left shoulder during the Coug’s season opener, he was forced to miss the remainder of the season. The team, and Daven, continued to work hard and to live by their five core principles: humility, passion, unity, servanthood, and thankfulness—knowing that their hard work would pay off. Little did he know that in only one year’s time, 12,000 fans would be celebrating an epic victory over a perennial basketball power in a packed Beasley Coliseum.

And thanks to the remarkable fan turnout throughout the season, Beasley Coliseum became one of the Pac-10’s toughest venues to play as a visiting team.

“There was a new attitude on campus. WSU students and fans were a part of the team. When we win, they win,” Daven says. A new bar is being set for Cougar basketball. Although humbled by their recent success and tremendous fan support, Daven and his teammates feel there is more work to be done.

“Last season was amazing—an emotional rollercoaster filled with ups and downs,” Daven says, “but we are hungry for more this year.”

It is thanks to the opportunity of his athletic scholarship that Daven, who plans to become a teacher and coach, returns to WSU for his junior year eager for more. “My scholarship has everything to do with why I’m at WSU. These past three years have by far, hands down, been the best three years of my life,” he says.

Athletic scholarships help coaches recruit and retain students with premier talent and exceptional character. For Daven, his scholarship means more than the opportunity to play a game; it’s given him friendships, life principles, and an unforgettable experience—one he’ll carry forever.
This spring, researchers at Washington State University’s Wenatchee Tree Fruit Research and Extension Center (TFREC) planted seeds to build a partnership benefiting students, the tree fruit industry, and the state’s economy—all made possible through a generous gift from Grady and Lillie Auvil, pioneers in the Pacific Northwest’s tree fruit industry.

The $2.9 million gift to WSU and Wenatchee Valley College supports scholarships and research at WSU and WVC. The University is developing a new orchard and promoting graduate education at TFREC, while supporting undergraduate research and scholarships.

TFREC is well situated to meet the immediate and future needs of Washington’s fruit industry while addressing complex biological and ecological issues in agricultural production and environmental stewardship. The gift was distributed to support these programs at WSU and WVC from an endowment at the Washington Apple Education Foundation in Wenatchee. Supported projects include variety development, integrated pest management, and post-harvest physiology.

Without well-supported programs of education, research and outreach, Washington’s tree-fruit industry would lose its competitive edge, thus risking the livelihood of thousands of growers, packers, grocers and their employees, according to Dan Bernardo, dean of WSU’s College of Agricultural, Human, and Natural Resource Sciences.

Research and outreach projects are imperative to keep the Washington tree fruit industry competitive in a global marketplace. Variety development makes Washington tree fruit not only a desirable commodity through improved appearance and taste but potentially more nutritious, too. Integrated pest management research and outreach ensure that Washington’s produce can be exported in a world concerned about the safety of food and the risk of invasive species.

Working in a recently acquired “living laboratory”—a 150-acre research orchard outside Wenatchee—students and faculty will tackle issues facing both today’s industry and tomorrow’s. High-density orchards that squeeze as many as 2,000 or more trees onto an acre provide profitable yields while reducing chemical use. Ongoing research that reduces harvest labor while improving worker safety is another benefit of WSU’s research being supported by the Auvil gift.

“This generous gift demonstrates the Auvils’ truly visionary commitment to excellence in the state’s important tree fruit industry and to the education of tomorrow’s leaders,” says Bernardo.

The gift strengthens WSU’s commitment and ability to offer the best undergraduate experience in a research university. According to David Bahr, director of undergraduate research at WSU, as many as 25 percent of WSU’s undergraduates actively participate in research, and this orchard will provide another opportunity to increase that percentage and ensure students access to meaningful research.

“The possibilities for research are endless, and the Auvil gift will bring numerous opportunities to students and the faculty who teach them,” Bahr says.

The late Grady and Lillie Auvil founded the Auvil Fruit Co. in 1928, with orchards, tree fruit packing, and production and marketing complexes in the Orondo and Vantage, Washington, areas. Grady introduced the Granny Smith apple to the state. He also introduced Red Haven peaches and Red Gold nectarines to the Northwest, and he was first to market Rainer cherries, a variety developed at WSU. Among his many accomplishments, Grady received the College of Agriculture’s prestigious Centennial Medallion Award for outstanding support of agricultural research.

In an apple orchard on the WSU Pullman campus, Dr. Amit Dhingra (left), assistant professor of genomics and biotechnology in the Department of Horticulture and Landscape Architecture, teaches undergraduate students, such as sophomore Crystal Wildenstein, about “the fruit of the future.”
This fall, Washington State University senior Anin Weiner is pursuing an educational opportunity of a lifetime—in Switzerland. Anin will complete her degree in Hospitality Business Management at the University Centre Cesar Ritz in Brig, thanks to a partnership between the WSU College of Business and University Centre Cesar Ritz and a newly established need-based scholarship.

The partnership is designed to give students the global education they need to become leaders in international business.

“This partnership is one of several in the College and represents the College of Business’ commitment to providing our graduates with the skills, knowledge, and experience to thrive in the global environment. We’ll continue to develop similar outstanding opportunities for students to achieve this objective,” said Jerman Rose, associate dean and director of International Initiatives.

“Today’s hospitality industry operates in a global market. If WSU students are to be competitive in this market, the international experience is an increasingly important piece of our education,” Anin says. “Through this experience, I expect to gain a better understanding of other cultures, to make important connections with students from around the world, and to develop the cultural growth and inclusiveness of others that will better prepare me for my career.”

The road to Switzerland was a long and winding one for Anin. A 2002 graduate of Seahome High School in Bellingham, Washington, she graduated from community college and attended two other universities before deciding to pursue a degree in hotel/motel restaurant administration. After learning about the quality of WSU’s School of Hospitality Business Management program—which is consistently ranked among the nation’s best—Anin transferred to WSU and never looked back. But with two younger sisters also in college, the international experience that is so valuable in her field seemed out of Anin’s financial reach.

“To be a successful leader in the hospitality industry, one must be familiar with many different customs and cultures. I knew I wanted to study abroad, but because I could not realistically afford it, I did not think it was an option for me.”

Dr. W. Terry Umbreit, director and professor of hospitality business management, supported and encouraged Anin not to give up on her dream to pursue her studies abroad. Thanks to the newly established Carson International Business Scholars Fund, which provides need-based scholarships to students participating in College of Business international programs, Anin was awarded the opportunity of a lifetime.

“I’m so thankful for the generosity of the Carson family, and for the many individuals whose contributions make once-in-a-lifetime opportunities like this possible for students like me,” Anin said. “I can’t begin to express what it means to me and my family. This is a wonderful gift.”

In November 2006, Scott E. Carson (’72, Business Administration), president and CEO of Boeing Commercial Airplanes, and his wife, Linda, announced their commitment of $1 million to help internationalize WSU’s College of Business. The Carsons’ gift established the Carson International Business Scholars Fund to further the education of tomorrow’s global business leaders by providing need-based scholarships to WSU students participating in College of Business international education initiatives.

“It is imperative that we encourage global experience for today’s students,” says Carson. “I challenge the College’s alumni and friends to become involved in supporting the education of tomorrow’s global business leaders.”
The WSU Foundation received $80,208,976 in private gifts, grants, and pledges during fiscal year 2007, which ended June 30. An additional $11,840,000 in revocable commitments was given to the WSU Foundation during this period, bringing the total fund-raising activity for the WSU Foundation to $92,048,976 during FY 2007.

During the same period, the WSU President’s Associates—individuals and organizations contributing $1,000 or more annually—set a participation record with more than 5,641 members. President’s Associates accounted for $31,185,278 in commitments in FY 2007.

The all-alumni gift participation rate also increased from 16.3 percent in FY 2006 to more than 19.7 percent in FY 2007.

INVESTMENT PERFORMANCE

For the period of July 1, 2006, to June 30, 2007, the endowment portfolio produced a total return of 9.5 percent. Additions to the endowment fund for this fiscal year totaled $15.4 million. $14.1 million was distributed from the endowment in support of programs at Washington State University. During the last 10 years, the endowment has grown from $121.4 million to more than $316.7 million as of June 30, 2007.

ENDOWMENT INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The investment objectives of the WUS Foundation Endowment Fund reflect its long-term nature. It is recognized that the desire to grow endowment gifts and to produce a large, stable, and predictable payout stream involves tradeoffs that must be balanced in establishing the investment and spending policies. Considerations that shape the Fund’s objectives are outlined here:

- Produce a relatively predictable and stable payout stream each year.
- Maintain purchasing power of the assets over the investment horizon.
- Balance the support of present and future generations of students and faculty.

In accordance with WSU Foundation’s bylaws, the WSU Foundation Investment Committee is responsible for investments, reinvestments, and general management of the endowment. The committee establishes policies for investing capital, monitoring and reviewing investment performance, establishing appropriate benchmarks, and managing the investments.

The Washington State University Foundation appreciates the support of every one of the 61,604 individuals and organizations that supported excellence at Washington State University in 2006-2007.

The impact of private giving cannot be overestimated. Every dollar truly makes a difference for teaching, research, and scholarship. The outstanding educational experience that is Washington State University’s hallmark would not be possible without the generosity of extraordinary friends and alumni whose giving reflects their passion for WSU and their recognition of the positive impact this great University has on individuals and the state, nation, and world.

As you review this honor roll of donors, please take note of the individuals and organizations we honor as Washington State University Laureates and Benefactors, those who have established named endowments, and those who have chosen to leave a legacy through a bequest or planned gift benefiting WSU. Also listed in this honor roll are the 2006-2007 President’s Associates, whom we honor as important leaders in providing the annual support that is WSU’s margin of excellence.
Laureates

FISCAL YEAR 2006-2007

For 28 years, a special group of individuals and organizations has had a profound influence on Washington State University—inspiring visionary faculty, contributing to a world-class student experience, and supporting programs and scholarship that put WSU on the world map.

The 178 Laureates of Washington State University—contributors of $1 million or more—create a legacy of excellence through their investments. WSU’s success—past, present and future—is a testament to their vision and spirit.

It is with deep gratitude that we honor the 2006-2007 Laureates and celebrate the inspiration and influence of all those who have become Laureates during the past 28 years.

CRAIG and LYN ANGELO

Vancouver, Washington, residents Craig (’73 Bus. Admin.) and Lyn Angelo proudly support Washington State University. “WSU has been very good to me and was a very important part of my life. I now want to give back and say, ‘Thank You,’” Craig says.

For 25 years, the Angelos have generously supported student-athlete scholarships and athletic facility improvements. They recently designated a significant gift to the Martin Stadium Renovation Project.

LESLIE and BIFF BROTHERTON

Through his exceptional commitment to Washington State University, Seattle resident Biff Brotherton (’65 Gen. St.) demonstrates his pride for the institution and the education that helped launch his successful business career. His annual gifts to WSU span 37 years, with much of that support directed to student-athlete scholarships as well as the program and facility needs of Cougar Athletics.

“The Angelos’ long-time dedication to Washington State University Athletics demonstrates how Cougar supporters can make a positive impact on the experience of our student-athletes, as well as play a significant role in the advancement of WSU as a world-class institution. They exemplify the passion and spirit of what being a Cougar is all about,” WSU Athletic Director Jim Sterk says.

Utilizing the expertise gained from his WSU education, Craig helped manage the growth of the family real estate business, The Al Angelo Company, founded in 1948 by the late Albert C. Angelo, Sr. The company now owns property in 22 cities in six states.

Craig is a member of the WSU Foundation Board of Trustees, Martin Stadium Renovation Steering Committee, Athletic Foundation Advisory Council, College of Business National Board of Advisors, Regents Scholars Program, President’s Associates, and Sigma Chi Fraternity.

From his first gift to WSU in 1969, to his recent pledge supporting the expansion and renovation of Martin Stadium, Biff has demonstrated a passion and spirit that exemplify what being a Cougar is all about, says WSU Athletic Director Jim Sterk.

A strong sense of gratitude and appreciation for his WSU education prompts his support, Biff says, adding, “I would not be anywhere close to where I am now without WSU.”

Biff and his wife, Leslie, form part of a Cougar family that extends to Biff’s late father and mother, Tex and Geneva, to daughters Beth and Karis, and sons David, Robert, and Bradley. The family business, Brotherton Cadillac Pontiac GMC and Buick, is owned and managed by Brad, while Biff is the dealership’s marketing consultant.
LARRY A. and VICKIE L. CULVER

In the midst of celebrating its 75th anniversary, the School of Hospitality Business Management (SHBM) at Washington State University is given another reason to celebrate—the support and generosity of alumnus Larry Culver and his wife, Vickie.

The Bellevue, Washington, couple's significant gift to establish the Larry and Vickie Culver Hospitality Fund will help support a position within the SHBM to serve as a liaison between the School and hospitality industry representatives and corporations. The position will also serve as alumni coordinator for the SHBM and as internship coordinator, placing the School's students with hospitality organizations.

Larry ('64 HRA) is chairman and CEO of InnVentures, Inc., a hotel management and development company.

The Culvers have directed annual gifts to WSU for 22 years. They support areas that are close to their hearts: the College of Business and SHBM; Sigma Chi fraternity; Regents scholarships; student-athlete scholarships; the Samuel and Patricia Smith Teaching and Learning Endowment; and WSU's golf course expansion.

Larry is a dedicated volunteer for the WSU Foundation and for the SHBM and College of Business. Together, Larry and Vickie are committed to helping WSU students in their pursuits of careers in the hospitality industry.

ELI LILLY AND COMPANY FOUNDATION

Since 1936, the Eli Lilly and Company Foundation has supported Washington State University through gifts and grants that continue to have a positive impact on research and instruction into new and innovative therapies and treatments for diabetes and certain types of cancer. The Lilly Foundation provided funding for the R. Keith Campbell Endowed Chair in Diabetes Care and the Lilly Insulin Study at WSU. Additionally, the foundation helped launch the Drug Information Center and Pharmaceutical Care Lab at WSU.

By leveraging their support through a matching gift program, company employees and retirees have directed nearly $57,000 to WSU since 1983. More than 90 percent of that amount was directed to scholarships, graduate fellowships, and immediate needs in the University's pharmacy, veterinary medicine, animal sciences, and nursing programs.

“Through our matching gift program, the Eli Lilly and Company Foundation is able to support many outstanding academic institutions that are making a difference for the better, and Washington State is one such organization. We are honored to underscore the generosity of our employees by matching their gifts to this fine institution,” says Robert L. Smith, foundation president.

Eli Lilly and Company was founded in 1876 by Col. Eli Lilly, a Civil War veteran. The company quickly became one of the first to initiate a bona fide pharmaceutical program. It has developed breakthrough treatments for mental illness, endocrinology (particularly diabetes and osteoporosis), oncology, and cardiovascular disease.

JOE ESCHBACH and MARGARET BRANDEAU

Enabling the recruitment, training, and retention of world-class faculty at Washington State University, Joseph Eschbach, his wife Margaret Brandeau, and Joe's siblings (Mary P., Elizabeth J., Katie, Genie, and Peter) have committed to establish an endowed chair in the School of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science, in honor of Eschbach's father, Eugene.

Eugene Eschbach recognized the importance of education in improving lives. He was born into a farming family of nine children near Yakima. Their home had neither running water nor electricity. With an interest in science and technology, he came to WSC in 1940, receiving his degree in electrical engineering. He pursued a career as a researcher at RCA, GE and Battelle Laboratories. Eugene is now retired.

Joe Eschbach and his five siblings followed their father’s lead in coming to WSU. Joe pursued a unique program that allowed him to study both engineering and business, receiving a bachelor's in economics and a master's in mechanical engineering. He later received a doctorate in Engineering-Economics-Systems at Stanford University and now works with high-tech companies to bring new products and services to market.
Donald and Mary Ann Parachini

Don Parachini (’56 Bus. Admin.) and his wife, Mary Ann, want to help Washington State University produce graduates who have the desire and ability to apply practical business methods to improve society through “social entrepreneurship.” They hope their gift to WSU will inspire students to solve problems creatively and seize opportunities to improve systems, invent and disseminate new approaches, and advance sustainable solutions that create social value.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gibson

By designating planned gifts to the College of Engineering and Architecture (CEA), James “Jay” Gibson has built a lasting legacy for future generations of students at Washington State University. His gifts will create scholarships for students pursuing degrees in engineering. The scholarships honor the memory of Jay’s son, Jason, who died in a motorcycle accident shortly before starting his first semester at WSU in 1971.

H.H. “Dutch” Hayner

Walla Walla attorney H.H. “Dutch” Hayner (’38 Bus. Admin.) advocates and promotes excellence in scholarship and research at Washington State University. In addition to his personal investment, Dutch facilitates gifts to WSU through private foundations he oversees. Much of this support has been directed to student-athlete scholarships, men’s and women’s athletic programs, and much-needed improvements to athletic facilities, including the original construction of Martin Stadium and the current stadium expansion and renovation project.

“Dutch’s long-time dedication to WSU Athletics demonstrates how Cougar supporters can make a positive impact on the experience of our student-athletes, and play a significant role in the advancement of WSU as a world-class institution,” WSU Athletic Director Jim Sterk says.

WSU helped build and instill leadership skills in Dutch. He developed life-long friendships through membership in his fraternity, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and many other organizations, including: Student Board of Control; Scabbard and Blade Military Honorary; Crimson Circle; Senior Men’s Service; Scholastic Honorary; and the Gray W Lettermen’s Club. Dutch says WSU broadened his horizons and reinforced his values, including “service above self.”

Dutch served as a WSU Regent, 1965-1977. His wife, Jeannette, served in the state legislature for 20 years, retiring in 1997 as senate Republican majority leader.

Jay (’41 Bus. Admin.) lives in Vermont with his wife, Phyllis, but maintains strong connections with his alma mater. He designated a charitable gift annuity to CEA in 1999 and became a Benefactor of WSU. Since that time, Jay has generously ensured that engineering students can count on his scholarship help well into the future.

Jay enjoyed a long career in banking. He was a budget officer in the U.S. Air Force during World War II, and then worked at First Security Bank in Beaverton, Oregon, before leaving his job to serve in the Korean War. He later became CEO of a bank in Ketchikan, Alaska, served as branch manager for U.S. Bank in Portland, Oregon, and worked for Bank of California in San Francisco and Los Angeles. In the late 1970s, he was a consultant for Arizona State University’s business college and was senior vice president at Cathay Bank in Los Angeles.

The couple’s exceptional commitment to the Center for Entrepreneurial Studies in the College of Business sets the stage to incorporate the concept of social entrepreneurship throughout the University’s curriculum. “Our goal is that students of Entrepreneurship and Innovation will leave WSU with a better grasp of the role of social responsibility in their futures and careers,” they say.

After his graduation from WSC, Don served in the U.S. Army before entering law school at the University of California-Berkeley. His expertise is in banking law, which he has practiced in San Francisco since 1964. Mary Ann grew up in San Jose, California, graduated from San Jose State, and taught fifth and sixth grades before turning to concentrate on raising a family. The couple have two children and five grandchildren.
“Nearly everything I am today, I am because of WSU,” the late Dr. Bernard Pinckney (’44 D.V.M.) once said. With those sentiments, Dr. Pinckney and his wife, Margaret, designated much of their estate to support Washington State University’s College of Veterinary Medicine.

For more than 40 years, Dr. Pinckney owned and operated Central Valley Veterinary Clinic in Tacoma. Prior to this, his career included serving as an attending veterinarian for the San Diego Zoo, as a regional humane society veterinary consultant, as a U.S. Army veterinarian, and for a brief time in teaching at WSU.

In addition to his professional accomplishments, Dr. Pinckney commissioned art to enhance the cultural face of veterinary medicine. He asked friend and artist Larry Anderson to create WSU’s statue of a 1940s era veterinarian caring for a boy’s young calf. In 2002, Dr. Pinckney again enlisted Anderson to create “Team Effort,” a bronze statue he donated to the American Veterinary Medical Foundation. AVMF dedicated the statue to the late Dr. Leo K. Bustad, former WSU professor and dean emeritus, at the foundation headquarters in Illinois.

Dr. Pinckney received the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) Animal Welfare Award in 1993 for promoting the global use of microchip identification in companion animals. He also received the American Animal Hospital Association Service award (1980), Washington State Veterinary Medical Association Honorary Service Award (1994), and AVMA Meritorious Service Award (2002).

The Pinckneys are survived by two sons and two daughters.

During the past 28 years, Washington State University has honored 1,344 individuals and organizations as Benefactors. These alumni and friends, whose tremendous commitment has led them to make one-time or cumulative gifts of $100,000 or more, and who have shaped the University's past, present, and future. Their legacy is the margin of excellence that WSU enjoys in teaching, research, scholarship, the arts, and in the outstanding educational experience that is WSU's hallmark.

It is with deep gratitude that we honor the 2006-2007 Benefactors and celebrate the accomplishments made possible by all who have become Benefactors in these last 28 years.

AVMA GROUP HEALTH & LIFE INSURANCE TRUST

The American Veterinary Medical Association Group Health & Life Insurance Trust (AVMA GHLIT) supports programs that provide the tools to enhance the emotional and physical health of veterinary students and practitioners throughout their careers. Among the programs acquiring the Trust's support is the Veterinary Leadership Experience (VLE) offered through the College of Veterinary Medicine at Washington State University. The VLE is an intensive series of experiential exercises and activities that take place outside the conventional classroom.

The Trust appreciates and respects WSU's progressive and encompassing efforts in developing the veterinarians of the future, notes Gary R. Holfinger, D.V.M., chair of AVMA GHLIT. “The GHLIT applauds Washington State University for mentoring future veterinarians. The VLE program dovetails nicely with our commitment to wellness, prevention, and overall health education. We are pleased to support their efforts in the personal and professional development of veterinarians.”

Since 1957, the AVMA Group Health and Life Insurance Trust has provided members with insurance coverage designed by veterinarians, for veterinarians. AVMA GHLIT’s health, life, disability, and other insurance products provide coverage for all stages of a veterinarian’s life. With nearly 33,000 individuals insured, the Trust is one of the largest association providers in the country.

BANK OF CLARK COUNTY

The Bank of Clark County values community leadership. Through volunteer leadership and with financial support to a range of causes and organizations, the bank helps improve the economic vitality and quality of life in the region.

“Supporting higher education makes good business sense and we are delighted to be building our community with WSU Vancouver as a partner,” says Mike Worthy, the bank’s chief executive officer. As part of its commitment to education and its support of the missions of WSU Vancouver and Clark College, the bank established a scholarship endowment for students transferring from Clark College to WSU Vancouver.

“Investing in students through scholarship support is a way to invest in our community by ensuring that bright and talented students become confident and visionary leaders,” says Hal Dengerink, WSU Vancouver Chancellor. “We are deeply appreciative to the Bank of Clark County and Mike Worthy’s leadership to establish this scholarship which has given students the promise of a Washington State University education right here in Southwest Washington.”

The Bank of Clark County was founded in February 1999 by 13 Clark County business leaders as a full service community bank specializing in business banking. The Bank is now owned by more than 400 local shareholders.
Bank of Whitman

Since 1995, annual gifts from the Bank of Whitman to Washington State University have provided scholarships to talented student-athletes and added muscle to Cougar Athletics programs and facilities. The bank’s steadfast generosity is fueling the academic achievements and the competitiveness of WSU’s student-athletes among Division 1 and Pac 10 Conference teams.

“Community banking isn’t about transactions, it’s about relationships. WSU understands there is still a place for community banking and helps us train the ‘independent bankers’ of the future,” Bank President Jim Tribbett says.

The Bank of Whitman’s generous support of Cougar Athletics helps provide the opportunities and experiences that add to the vitality of the entire University, notes Athletic Director Jim Sterk. The bank is title sponsor of the annual Palouse Cougar Golf Classic and recently accelerated its annual support of WSU to help transform Martin Stadium into a world-class venue.

The Bank of Whitman is an independent, locally owned and employee-owned community bank. Headquartered in Colfax, Washington, the bank provides quality financial products and responsive, personalized, professional service, while promoting economic growth, opportunity and stability within the 17 eastern Washington communities it serves.

Lou began his career as a technical apprentice at Alcoa Wenatchee Works in August 1952. His education opened the door to technical work assignments, and assignments successfully completed and documented led to recognition and promotion, he said. His career took him to Alcoa plants in Evansville, Indiana, and Massena, New York, and to Northwest Alloys Operations in Addy, Washington, where he served as plant manager and then vice president and general manager. He retired from Northwest Alloys in 1987 to become vice president and general manager of Vanalco, an aluminum smelter, until his retirement in 1990.

Lou joined Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and was a member of the Intercollegiate Knights and Rifle Team while at WSC. He and Dorothy were married in 1947.

Education, health, and sports are cornerstones of the couple’s philanthropy. Their gift to the Martin Stadium Renovation Project is a significant step in their support of WSU. They appreciate the education they received and hold their WSU professors in high regard. They want to see their alma mater flourish as a premier institution for academics and athletics.

Joe (’87 Const. Mgt.) credits his success in construction and development to the real-world view provided by Max Kirk, associate professor in the School of Architecture & Construction Management. Laurie (’86 HRA) will always be grateful for the continuing guidance of Professor Terry Umbreit as she worked her way into management positions with Marriott Corporation, InnVentures and the Residence Inn by Marriott in Seattle.

Louis (Lou) and Dorothy Black

In gratitude for the caring faculty members who supported him at Washington State College, Louis (Lou) Black (’49 Civ. Engr.) and his wife, Dorothy, are generously returning the favor through annual gifts to the C. L. Barker Scholarship Fund and Emmett B. Moore Scholarship in Civil Engineering. Through their gifts, Lou and Dorothy are giving civil engineering majors a good start toward their careers. Matching gifts facilitated through the Alcoa Foundation magnify the impact of the couple’s generosity.

Joseph and Laurie Blattner

Washington State University graduates Joe and Laurie Blattner share a philanthropic spirit that was shaped by their sons, Sam, Will, and Alex. They support the school their sons attend and the activities that contribute to their sons’ good health. Their advocacy of sports is an important part of their family and way of life. “When the opportunity arose to support Martin Stadium, and in turn support WSU, it seemed like a perfect fit for our family,” Laurie says.

Joseph and Laurie Blattner
K. DUANE and TERRI BRELFORD

Born in the shadow of Washington State University, K. Duane Brelsford (’81 Hum.) grew up in Pullman with his destiny in sight. He enrolled at WSU, earned a degree, and put his education to work, becoming a successful businessman and real estate developer. In gratitude and with pride, Duane and his wife, Terri, generously support and embrace WSU and its vision to provide world-class facilities and a premier undergraduate experience.

Their annual gifts support the University’s construction management program, business and real estate departments in the College of Business, WSU Athletics, the Martin Stadium Renovation Project, and the Palouse Ridge Golf Course. “I’ve always felt one should give back to those who contributed to one’s success,” Duane says.

Professors Donald Poe, Ken Carper, and Irv Field are among those who influenced Duane the most. Another important inspiration is the honorary degree in Construction Management awarded to Duane by WSU in 2005.

Duane is president of Corporate Pointe Developers in Pullman and credits his wife in his success. Terri keeps his business projects organized and holds together many things in business and in their family life. The Brelsfords have two daughters; Nicole is a senior at WSU and Brandi is a junior at the University of Idaho.

AL BRYANT

Washington State University made an indelible impression on Al Bryant (’73 B.S. Arch./’74 B.A.R.). He enrolled at WSU, became immersed in campus life, developed his talents and passion for architecture, and departed with the degrees that would open doors to a rewarding career in the field. In hopes of sharing the WSU experience with others, Al is creating scholarships for master of architecture students.

“Today’s educational expenses are so great, every little amount will help someone, somehow,” he says. “Architecture has been and will always be my passion.”

Al is a principal in the architecture firm of Ambia, Inc., formerly Duarte Bryant Architecture, which he started in 1988. He previously was an architect at two other firms in the Seattle area.

Al’s father was an officer in the U.S. Navy, so his family moved frequently. His years on the University campus provided Al with a sense of place. “Five years at WSU was the longest time I had lived at one place for the first 22 years of my life,” he says. “Pullman and WSU were like a hometown to me.” Al joined Farmhouse Fraternity and recently formed a business partnership with a fraternity brother to establish the Cabernet Cattle Company, a small purebred red Angus cattle operation in Pomeroy, Washington.

LINDA and LARRY BUMP

When the family of the late Linda Lu (Johnson) Bump (’64 Ed.) created a graduate fellowship at Washington State University, they chose an enduring way to honor Linda’s devotion to her alma mater while helping education majors complete their degrees and go on to make a difference in the world. The Linda L. Bump Graduate Fellowship in Elementary & Secondary Education opens doors to students following Linda’s footsteps at WSU.

Both Linda and Larry borrowed money to complete their senior years at their respective universities, so the fellowship is one way the couple can help students in similar situations. “It is a way of giving back,” Larry says. Linda had a deep interest in education, nurtured by her years at WSU. Larry is a 1964 graduate of Oklahoma State University.

Linda grew up in Olympia and Larry is from Oklahoma. They met in 1963 when Larry was working at a summer job in Olympia. They were married in 1965 and lived abroad for 13 years before moving to Tulsa, Oklahoma, when Larry became CEO of a major energy-related international engineering and construction group. Linda was especially active in the community as a volunteer. Their marriage spanned 42 years.
DWIGHT and BEVERLY CALL

In gratitude for the counsel and advice imparted by a former director of the Hotel & Restaurant Administration program at Washington State College, retired hotel executive Dwight Call (’56 HRA) and his wife, Beverly, are opening doors to underrepresented students enrolled in the WSU School of Hospitality Business Management. “Helping others achieve has always been a high priority,” they say. “Giving back is the best way to support this priority and objective.”

Asa (Ace) Clark Jr., have provided WSU for half a century. As donors and season tickets holders for Cougar football and basketball, Kaye and Ace provided scholarship support for generations of student-athletes. The

ASA V. JR. and KAYE CLARK

In establishing a scholarship for student-athletes on the Washington State University golf team, Kaye Clark has created a lasting legacy that will forever represent the tremendous support she and her late husband, Asa V. Jr. and Kaye Clark Endowed Golf Scholarship continues the couple’s commitment to WSU in perpetuity, while sharing their passion for golf.

Additionally, the scholarship underscores the couple’s deep appreciation for WSU’s many contributions to agriculture. The Clark family has farmed on the Palouse for more than 120 years, and Cougar bloodlines run deep in the family. Clark Hall located on WSU’s Pullman campus bears the family name.

Kaye hopes the scholarship will enhance the lives of recipients in a positive way while preserving the integrity of their WSU education. “By striving for excellence in what they do in the present and in the direction they follow in the future, WSU will remain ‘world class’ and respected,” she says.

DORIS PICHA DRUMHILLER

When the first recipient is selected for the Claude Drumhiller Memorial Endowed Scholarship in the College of Business at Washington State University, a sense of fulfillment will envelope Doris Picha Drumhiller and her family. Her late husband would be proud to be remembered this way. By honoring Claude through their gift to WSU, the Drumhiller family helps deserving students from the Yakima Valley complete their educations, and hopes to inspire a similar desire to give back.

Doris grew up in Puyallup and attended Washington State College for two and a half years. Claude attended high school in Yakima and enrolled at Yakima Valley Junior College before transferring to WSC. He graduated in 1941 with a degree in business administration. They met at WSC and married in 1942 in Henderson, Kentucky, while Claude was in the U.S. Army. After they returned to Yakima in 1945, Claude launched his career in the hardware business. In 1973, at age 54, he purchased C & H Hardware and operated the store until shortly before his death in 2000.

Doris and Claude appreciated the value of their WSC experiences, which paved the way to their success and the opportunity to give back to the community.

It is the Calls’ hope that their scholarship will help ensure a robust and diverse future for the hospitality industry, especially within management circles. Dwight’s career with Westin Hotels and Resorts spanned 32 years. He held several executive positions within the company, then was appointed president in 1984 and served in that capacity until his retirement in 1988. He attributes much of his success to the counsel and support of Beverly during their more than 50 years of marriage.

After earning a degree in business at the University of Idaho in 1952 and serving two years in the Army, Dwight returned to Moscow, Idaho, his hometown, and took the first step toward his future. Acting on the advice of HRA director Joe Bradley at WSC, Dwight enrolled in a two-year program to earn a degree in HRA. With Bradley’s help, Dwight launched his career with Westin.
S.W. Thurston and Frank Dupar, co-founders of the brand that would become Westin Hotels and Resorts, strongly believed that “people make the difference.” Their motto reigns throughout the Westin brand today and their legacy continues through the Dupar Foundation, which generously makes a difference for students majoring in Hospitality Business Management (HBM) at Washington State University.

Twelve years ago, Dupar Foundation trustees began directing gifts to WSU. For the first three years, the foundation contributed funds to the Westin Hotel archives located on the WSU Pullman campus. The trustees then turned their attention to scholarships at WSU Vancouver. In 2004, the Dupar Foundation began supporting the School of Hospitality Business Management at WSU Pullman. It is the goal of the foundation trustees to support the program by offering scholarships to students studying in the field.

Frank A. Dupar, Sr., and Ethel L. Dupar established the Dupar Foundation in December 1953. The Foundation is dedicated to enhancing quality of life for children and young people, and supporting medical research, social services, education, and elderly services in Washington state.

Richard and Marlene met while serving as junior class officers at WSU. Their student leadership and volunteer experiences became part of the foundation that has supported them in their careers and through their service in their community and church. They have remained connected with WSU through the Alumni Association (Marlene served as president, 1993-94) and demonstrate their commitment as trustees of the WSU Foundation.

Richard’s career as an actuary spans 37 years. Marlene has been an associate broker in residential real estate since 1991. The Fallquists have two sons, Stephen and Michael. Supporting the Cougars and WSU Athletics is a valued tradition in their family.

By focusing their philanthropic activities on education, Bob and Karen Felton hope to make a positive, enduring impact on the world. Through their annual gifts to Washington State University, the couple provides valuable resources to programs and activities that enhance the educational experience at WSU.

“It is important for those more fortunate to give back to society,” Bob says. “I have an abiding fondness for WSU and feel that my contribution can make a difference.”

Bob grew up in a small farming town in eastern Washington. The transition from Warden High School to WSU was a challenge academically, but he gained a quality education in engineering. Perhaps more importantly, though, he developed the social and leadership skills that have served him well throughout his life.

Bob is chairman of the WSU Foundation Board of Trustees and is a member of the WSUF Board of Governors. As chairman of the WSUF Investment Committee, Bob helped shape an investment strategy that has yielded significant returns for the Foundation’s endowment in recent years.
Washington State University acquired a rare gift when Vernon and Joan Gallup donated a portion of their personal collection of fly-fishing books to WSU Libraries. The most valuable piece of the collection is a first edition of Izaak Walton’s The Compleat Angler. The collection dates back to at least Walton’s work in the 17th century.

Vernon hopes that this part of his collection will add to the enjoyment and edification of those studying 17th century literature. “This little book is more than a fishing book, as it tells us much about country life and country people. It has been both extolled and maligned, called a ‘pastoral,’ an ‘idyll,’ ‘not an idyll,’ and a ‘plagiarism.’ Yet, it has endured and ranks among the most published books, certainly the most published sporting work.”

The Gallups have contributed books to other educational institutions and museums, and established an endowment at their alma mater, the University of Idaho. Additionally, Vern and Joan have directed annual gifts to WSU Libraries for more than 20 years. Their interest in WSU is enhanced by their family members who are Cougars: son Neil, daughter Corinne, and two granddaughters.

Jay and Kimberly Heglar are ensuring that Washington State University students are well-prepared for the twenty-first century workplace. As a sales manager for Microsoft Corporation, Jay participates in the company’s matching gift program to provide up-to-date software and licenses to WSU. By leveraging his cash gifts to WSU with Microsoft products, Jay is providing today’s students with the technological edge they’ll need to succeed in tomorrow’s world.

“My mother and father both grew up in eastern Washington. Since as far back as I can remember, I wanted to be a Coug. I have been fortunate in my professional career and I want to continue to give back to the place that prepared me for my future,” Jay explains.

After earning a degree in business administration with an emphasis in marketing and economics in 1996, Jay worked in sales with Sprint Communications in Seattle and tried his hand at being an Internet entrepreneur. Three years later, he joined Microsoft’s Headquarters Sales organization in Redmond. His career has taken him to the East Coast and to his present location in San Francisco, where he manages a sales team selling to Enterprise customers in professional, financial and internet services, and high tech manufacturing.

Fort Dodge Animal Health is widely recognized for its breakthroughs in veterinary medicine, and it continues to lead the way in animal health through a commitment to innovation, research, and product development.

Founded in 1912, and a division of Wyeth since 1945, Fort Dodge is a leading worldwide manufacturer of animal health products for the companion animal, equine, livestock, swine, and poultry industries. Fort Dodge distributes products in more than 100 countries and has more than 3,100 employees worldwide.
HOLY FAMILY HOSPITAL

Through its generous support of the People’s Clinic, a public service medical facility staffed by student nurses and faculty from the Intercollegiate College of Nursing in Spokane, Holy Family Hospital is making a significant difference in the delivery of urgent and ongoing care for patients crippled by mental illness. A multi-year gift from the hospital enables the People’s Clinic to offer faculty psychiatric-mental health nurse practitioner services that reach the most vulnerable of those who suffer from behavioral health issues: low-income patients with limited health insurance, or no insurance at all.

Founded by the Dominican Sisters of Spokane and sponsored by the Sisters of Providence, Holy Family Hospital fulfills an important mission by reaching out to patients beyond its doors. Through its gift to the People’s Clinic, Holy Family Hospital is able to make a greater impact in the community and to extend charity in the spirit of the Sisters of Providence: providing appropriate care in an appropriate setting to those who are most vulnerable, regardless of their ability to pay.

“The People’s Clinic is vital to ensuring that we are able to meet the whole health needs and improve the quality of life for those less fortunate,” says Tom Corley, president of Holy Family Hospital.

HOPE for DEPRESSION RESEARCH FOUNDATION

Through the generosity of Hope for Depression Research Foundation (HDRF), a renowned scientist at Washington State University is developing groundbreaking approaches to the understanding, diagnosis, and treatment of depression. Jaak Panksepp, professor and Baily Endowed Chair of Animal Well-Being Science in the College of Veterinary Medicine, is leading collaborative studies with researchers around the world. Dr. Panksepp is focusing on “affective neuroscience,” an area of study yielding new insight into psychological disorders such as schizophrenia, depression, autism, sleep problems, and more.

“In his work at WSU, we anticipate that Dr. Panksepp and his research teams will significantly advance the world’s understanding of the science behind the causes and treatment of depression and related disorders, as well as broaden our understanding of animal emotions as they relate to animal welfare and human-animal interactions,” says Audrey Gruss, philanthropist and founder of HDRF.

Gruss founded HDRF in 2006 in honor of her mother, Hope, who suffered from clinical depression. The mission of HDRF is to fund groundbreaking, international scientific research into the origins, diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of depression and related disorders, with the ultimate goal of finding a cure.

MARY M. “DRUFFEL” HOWELL

Through her generous bequest to Washington State University, the late Mary M. “Druffel” Howell is providing valuable support for research and instruction in the College of Veterinary Medicine. Her bequest was directed to small animal research, an area that captured her attention as the owner of several pet cats.

Mary’s life centered on caring for her beloved cat and for several others throughout the years. She became very close to the veterinary clinics in the Seattle area and appreciated their devotion to research. “She knew about the WSU research work and wanted them to help the upcoming veterinary students,” says her brother, John B. Druffel.

Mary was the middle child of seven siblings born to Bennie and Margaret (Reisenauer) Druffel, who owned a farm five miles north of Colton, Washington. She graduated from Colton High School in 1936 and spent several years at the family home with her siblings and parents before entering the Sacred Heart School of Nursing in Spokane. She earned her R.N. degree in 1944 and moved to Seattle, where she worked at Swedish Hospital for 25 years. She married Walter Howell in 1969. He died in 1995. Mary died in 2004.
University advances the organization’s mission by recruiting and training a diverse workforce that, in turn, will ensure Key’s future success and its desire to be recognized by employees, customers, stakeholders, and peer companies as the most admired financial services organization in the practice of diversity management and inclusion.

“As a bridge between our workplace and the marketplace, diversity draws on dimensions of people that broaden our perspective of ourselves, our colleagues, and our customers. Expanding the diversity of our board and workforce increases our depth of talent and overall ability to perform,” says Henry L. Meyer, III, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of KeyCorp.

Key Foundation grants to WSU generously support scholarships, internships and career opportunities provided through the WSU College of Business’ Partnership for Enhancing Diversity, as well as student-athlete scholarships, student orientation activities, Future Cougar Days, and the University Center for Professional Education at WSU Tri-Cities.

ROBERT J. La PORTE

Washington State College had a commanding influence on Robert La Porte. Although he departed WSC during his junior year to continue his studies elsewhere, the time spent in Pullman made a lasting impression. The classes he took helped set his course in life. He became a history buff. His experiences enhanced his cultural horizons.

Robert held interesting jobs throughout his adult life, but came to realize that more doors open for people who possess degrees from accredited colleges and universities. Through a planned gift to WSU, Robert is making it possible for future students to gain a scholastic edge and to be well prepared for successful careers.

His gift will create scholarships that honor the memory of his mother and father, Helen Antoinette Heiker La Porte and Clyde Scott La Porte, and pay tribute to a professor of history at WSC, Dr. Winston B. Thorson. Robert’s mother insisted he pursue a college education, while Dr. Thorson was a respected mentor whose dedication to and promotion of history influenced Robert’s avid interest in the field. The new scholarships will provide much-needed assistance to WSU undergraduate and graduate students studying the physical sciences or European history.

JOHN and MONICA MANSFIELD

Knowing that many of today’s students face difficult financial times, Monica Mansfield is making it possible for Washington State University students to obtain educations and do well in their lives and careers. She established the John and Monica Mansfield Endowed Scholarship to benefit students and to honor her husband, who died in June 2003.

“We began married life in 1944 without a dime. We are proof that by working diligently, and with judicious use of our money, we were able to raise three children and have an enjoyable retirement,” Monica says. “Financial times are harder now for most young people and we want to give them the opportunity to gain education and do well for themselves.”

John is a graduate of West Valley High School in Spokane and Monica is a graduate of Pasco High School. They met at WSU and have always had a special feeling for their alma mater. Although World War II interrupted his education, John was able to complete the credits he needed to earn a degree from WSU in 1965. He was employed at Standard Oil of California and Chevron for virtually his entire career, starting in 1947 and retiring in 1980.
Merial Limited is an important partner to cattle producers in the United States. The company generously invests in research and looks to Washington State University to help develop new DNA tools and technology to ensure cattlemen remain globally competitive in the future.

As a leading animal health company, Merial Limited is advancing animal genomics research in WSU’s Department of Animal Sciences. Projects include understanding the genome structure, function and evolution, and developing quantitative and molecular genomic approaches for improving animal production, product quality, and health.

“Through the efforts of Dr. Zhihua Jiang and others in the Department of Animal Sciences, WSU has developed world-class capability in animal genomics, and Merial is pleased to support this important research for the benefit of cattle producers in the state of Washington,” says Dr. Stewart Bauck, executive director of iGENITY Livestock Production Business Unit.

Dr. Jiang’s research on comparative genome biology and the study of gene functions promises to significantly benefit the livestock industry by providing knowledge and technologies that can help optimize production, quality, nutritional value, and resistance to diseases. The long-term goal of the research is to develop a genomically standardized farming system to support industry expansion and economic development in the state of Washington.

Gina M. Meyers

In appreciation for the opportunity to follow the path that prepared her for a rewarding career in accounting and finance, Gina Meyers (’85 Bus. Admin.) is making sure that opportunities abound for students who want to pursue their education at Washington State University.

“I believe it is important for every individual to be able to go to college if they choose to do so. Therefore, I want to do my small part in enabling less-fortunate students to continue their education,” she says.

Gina has directed annual gifts to WSU for 22 years. Her most recent gift helps create an endowment for the Beta Alpha Psi student accounting organization at WSU.

Gina’s decision to attend WSU led to life-changing experiences. “My educational experience was very rigorous and competitive. It provided a hands-on, practical experience to problem solving. We were taught to think and act for ourselves.”

To honor the professor who inspired her professional success, Gina joined fellow alumni in supporting the Ted Saldin Distinguished Professorship in Accounting. The professorship will help attract the best and brightest to the accounting profession and will help maintain important connections between WSU and the business community.

R. Mike and Jamie Miller

Mike and Jamie Miller are Cougar parents and avid fans of Cougar Athletics. The success of Mike’s company, Intracorp Real Estate LLC, enabled the couple to direct significant support to scholarships for student-athletes, and to help Washington State University sharpen its competitive edge in intercollegiate athletics through state-of-the-art facilities.

Thanks to the Millers and Intracorp, Bailey-Brayton Field features the latest in synthetic field turf and the Cougar Baseball team holds batting practice year-round in new indoor batting cages. The improvements are an important part of the University’s commitment to provide world-class facilities and premier student-athlete experiences.

Mike and Jamie like the culture and concept of a university environment for young adults. They are committed to WSU and hope to inspire others to support students who compete as Cougar athletes.

“We encourage all of WSU to support these student-athletes like they deserve to be supported,” Mike says.

Mike grew up in Miles City, Montana, and attended the University of Montana, where he earned a bachelor’s degree in 1979. Jamie is a graduate of Mercer Island High School. The couple met while attending college. Their sons, Jay and Jeff, played baseball for the Cougars.
Thanks to the generosity of Nestlé Purina PetCare Company, the College of Veterinary Medicine at Washington State University is building an innovative program of significant value to the University and the veterinary profession as a whole. The company is funding a new faculty position to help produce graduates who are skilled communicators as well as technically competent doctors of veterinary medicine.

The Nestlé Purina Professor in Veterinary Clinical Communication will provide valuable insight into communication as an essential veterinary clinical skill. What is learned through teaching and research at WSU will be shared with veterinary colleges and professional organizations across the United States.

“We are very excited about the opportunity to assist in building a strong, progressive veterinary communications program that will bring value to the students and clinicians at WSU and beyond,” says Kurt R. Venator, D.V.M., Ph.D., at Nestlé Purina PetCare. “Effective communication is an integral component in transforming students into practitioners of excellence—practitioners who will ultimately have a meaningful, positive impact on pets, people, and our profession.”

A leader in the pet products industry, Nestlé Purina PetCare Company promotes responsible pet care, humane education, and the positive bond between people and their pets.

Working in partnership with the College of Veterinary Medicine at Washington State University, Novartis Animal Health U.S., Inc., is ensuring that tomorrow’s veterinary practitioners are skilled communicators and adept at promoting good health and patient care. The company generously supports the Veterinary Leadership Experience (VLE), an intensive series of experiential exercises and activities that pave the way to “real world” success. Participants come from veterinary schools across North America and as far away as Australia.

“This is a one-of-a-kind opportunity for veterinary students to grasp a very important aspect of training,” says Robert Jones, president and CEO of Novartis Animal Health U.S., Inc. “We have selected to sponsor this program because professional leadership and communications skills training may not be offered in standard curriculums at some veterinary schools. We believe this type of training is invaluable to new veterinarians because it prepares them to effectively execute their medical training in a practice setting.”

Headquartered in Basel, Switzerland, and present in almost 40 countries, Novartis Animal Health is dedicated to maintaining and improving the health and welfare of pets and farm animals. The company researches, develops, and markets products that meet the needs of pet owners, farmers, and veterinarians.

Martha “Marty” Mullen was a guiding force among Washington State University students as she advised Associated Students of WSU activities and managed cultural arts programs on campus for 31 years. Applying her past experience with advising and training volunteers, Marty confidently tackled her first assignment at WSU: developing a volunteer/practicum agency that linked students with the Pullman community. From 1972 until her retirement in 2003, Marty was instrumental in maintaining a vibrant campus environment and encouraging student involvement in campus and community activities.

Marty’s annual gifts to WSU support areas closest to her heart. “My major contributions have been in memory of people I have cared about,” she says. “I want to see the arts flourish, encourage teaching and mentoring that extends outside the classroom, increase diversity on campus, and encourage students to seek careers in public service.”

Her husband, William (Frank) Mullen, taught political science at WSU for 18 years. When he died in 1986, Marty helped establish the endowment creating the William F. Mullen Memorial Teaching Award. The award recognizes and rewards WSU faculty who emulate his commitment to undergraduate students. The endowment also provides three undergraduate scholarships in political science in memory of Professor Mullen and the late Jack Gabbert, professor emeritus-political science.
Motivated by a strong philanthropic spirit and an unwavering loyalty to their alma mater, Larry and Caron Ogg are ensuring that Washington State University provides the same opportunities they enjoyed as students. The couple directs annual gifts to scholarships, which help students expand their options in life, and to faculty fellowships, which help maintain the highest quality professional educators and programs for WSU students.

“We understand the importance of a quality education,” Larry and Caron say. “We’re extremely impressed with the leadership at WSU and have built many strong relationships over the years with staff, alumni, and friends of the University.” The Ogg family generously give their time as volunteers for the WSU Foundation, College of Business, and Cougar Athletics and as President’s Associates. Their daughter, Lara, and sons Jason, are also WSU Cougars.

Larry (‘67 Bus. Admin) and Caron (‘68 Int. Design) met at WSU. They married in 1968 and became immersed in serving their community and WSU. Their WSU education prepared them for great careers. Larry became an executive with Seafirst Bank and served as president of Bank of America’s Oregon and Southwest Washington operations from 1996 until his retirement in 2000. He and Caron continue their engagement as community volunteers in Portland.

In demonstrating this commitment, Schering-Plough Animal Health Corporation became a founding partner with Washington State University in the “Veterinary Clinical Communication Program” in the College of Veterinary Medicine. The program will teach veterinary students the communication skills that will help them become proficient, capable, and successful veterinarians.

“Schering-Plough Animal Health Corporation is focused on sponsoring institutions and programs that will better the veterinary profession,” says Christopher Pappas, Jr., DVM, and Director of Technical Services. “WSU’s unique veterinary communications program was seen as a ground-breaking initiative to develop and implement an effective clinical communications curriculum that could be applied in the training of veterinarians worldwide.”

When discussions in the Skagit Valley focused on the renovation of Washington State University’s Northwest Washington Research and Extension Center in Mount Vernon, Richard and Patricia (Mikalson) Smith stepped forward with their support. “We were more than happy to be a part of that fund-raising project for a new research facility,” Richard says. “I believe the new facility will give more interns a chance to see the beautiful Skagit Valley and also help to retain our farming base in this fertile river valley.”

Richard (‘54 Hort.) and Patricia (‘54 Gen. Stud.) have supported WSU’s College of Agriculture, Human, and Natural Resource Sciences for 18 years. Richard is a third-generation crop farmer in the Skagit Valley. His farm, S&B Farms, produces peas, carrots, and grass seed, as well as fresh market potatoes.

A member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, Richard met Patricia at an open house function at her sorority, Delta Delta Delta, in 1951. Richard serves on the Advisory Committee of the Extension Station and WSU Foundation Board of Trustees, and participates in organizations that seek to maintain and preserve farming in northwestern Washington.
STATE FARM INSURANCE

Through annual gifts to student recruitment and professional development programs, and to College of Business scholarships and academic areas, State Farm Insurance is helping Washington State University attract, retain, educate, and train a talented and diverse workforce.

“At State Farm we believe it is our responsibility, as a good corporate citizen, to reach out and do our part in providing our students with quality educations,” says State Farm Senior Vice President Harold L. Gray. “Our active participation benefits not only our country and our communities, but our company and customers, as well.”

Because of WSU’s impressive achievements through its Risk Management and Insurance Program, the only four-year college program of its kind in the Pacific Northwest, State Farm made it a priority to offer its assistance and support. The company generously supports the Office of Equity & Diversity’s Future Cougars of Color Program, the College of Business Scholarship Fund, the Scott & Linda Carson Center for Professional Development, and the Department of Risk Management and Insurance.

State Farm is one of the world’s largest financial institutions with 7,000 agents and 68,000 employees serving more than 74 million auto, fire, life, and health policies in the United States and Canada, and more than 1.8 million bank accounts.

LEO R. and MARGARET E. THOMAS

Cougar Athletics and the College of Business held a special place in the hearts of the late Leo and Margaret Thomas. In 1997, they established the Leo R. and Margaret E. Thomas Endowed Scholarship for student-athletes certified in the College of Business. Leo died in 2002 and Margaret died in 2006. Their daughter, Nancy Ellison, posthumously honored her parents by helping them become new Benefactors of WSU through a gift directed to the scholarship.

Inspired by a spirit of altruism, Terry wants to make a difference at WSU. “I am hopeful we can build the entrepreneurial spirit and achievements among students, whether they go on to work in large or small organizations.” After graduating from WSU (’35 Bus. Admin.), Terry went on to earn an M.B.A. at Harvard Graduate School of Business. He enjoyed a long career with Riley’s Reproductions & Printing in Calgary, Canada, and currently serves as chairman of the board.

Terry and Ann met at WSU. Ann studied elementary education, pledged Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and swam in Fish Fans. Terry belonged to Sigma Nu fraternity and played Cougar Baseball for Coach Buck Bailey. They married in 1955 and have a daughter, Lynn, and two sons, Todd and Wade.
BRUCE and LINDA TITUS

Washington State University provided Bruce and Linda Mares Titus with great life experiences, life-long friends, and quality educations. In return, the couple is providing today's students with the resources they need to compete in a global economy.

A native of Tacoma, Washington, Bruce earned a degree in business administration/finance at WSU in 1979. He went on to establish successful car dealerships in the Tacoma/Olympia area, where he is owner/president of Bruce Titus Automotive Group. He and Linda met at WSU and were married in 1983. Linda established her career in the financial industry after graduating cum laude with a degree in business administration/finance from WSU in 1982.

Bruce and Linda have directed annual gifts to WSU for 20 years. Their support extends to areas that are closest to their experiences, including the Business Administration Annual Fund; Bruce’s fraternity, Sigma Chi; and Linda’s sorority, Delta Gamma.

Bruce also supports student-athlete scholarships through Pierce County Cougar Club activities, and he participates in the Cougar Athletics Courtesy Car program through his dealerships. His most recent gift is directed to the Martin Stadium Renovation Project to improve access to the stadium, increase seating capacity, and enhance the overall game-day experience for Cougar football fans.

RALPH and VALERIE YOUNT

Remembering his experience at Wabash College in Indiana, Ralph Yount emphasizes the impact tuition grants had during his time as an undergraduate student. He hopes to provide similar assistance to students at Washington State University today and tomorrow.

Joined by his colleague Bruce McFadden, the 2004 Regents Professor of Biochemistry and Chemistry and WSU’s first eminent scholar, Ralph created the McFadden/Yount Undergraduate Scholarships in Biochemistry and Chemistry to recognize outstanding students and to help them meet the increasing costs of education. Such awards also enhance a student’s vitae when applying to graduate or medical school, Ralph notes.

Ralph earned his Ph.D. in biochemistry at Iowa State University in 1958 and completed his postdoctoral work at Brookhaven National Laboratory. He met his wife, Valerie, at Iowa State. They were married in Chicago in 1957 and moved to Pullman in 1960 when Ralph joined the chemistry department at WSU.

Ralph is quick to acknowledge that WSU has been very good to him over the years. Believing it is important to give back, Ralph and Valerie have directed their support to a variety of areas at WSU for more than 30 years.

President's Associates

Beginning in 1979, contributors of $1,000 or more annually have been members of the President's Associates of Washington State University. In 2006-2007, a record 5,641 individuals and organizations demonstrated their commitment and leadership by making a gift at one of the four President's Associates levels. WSU is deeply grateful for their support.

Formerly the Century II Club, the Legacy Associates are those individuals who have remembered Washington State University in their estate plans, leaving a legacy for future generations. Estate gifts have a tremendous impact on the University, representing approximately 27.7 percent of the total $316.7 million endowment, which provides a stable and perpetual source of support for students, faculty, and programs at WSU.

These thoughtful gifts come to the University in a number of ways, including bequests through Wills or living trusts, naming the WSU Foundation as a beneficiary of life insurance or retirement plans, or through other planned giving arrangements such as charitable remainder trusts or charitable gift annuities. In 2006-2007, Washington State University confirmed 81 new bequest expectancies, worth more than $11.8 million. These generous plans will advance world-class education and research at WSU in the future.

The University extends its utmost gratitude to these Legacy Associates and to many others who choose to remain anonymous. Their legacy will be a future of quality and excellence in all that we do at Washington State University.

If your estate plans include a gift to WSU and you have yet to notify the WSU Foundation, we encourage you to do so.

Corporations, Foundations, and Associations

Many business and philanthropic organizations recognize the value of the work being accomplished by programs, faculty, and students at Washington State University. The WSU Foundation thanks the following organizations whose support of $1,000 or more during fiscal year 2007 supports the research, teaching, and public outreach that make WSU world class.

At the end of fiscal year 2007, the number of endowed funds for Washington State University reached 1,648. These funds provide tremendous annual support for student scholarships, distinguished professorships and chairs, graduate fellowships, and numerous other academic and research programs at WSU.

An endowment establishes a permanent fund that is prudently invested to provide ongoing annual support to the program or purpose specified by the donor. Donors may contribute to any of WSU's endowed funds or create a new fund for a specific purpose. The minimum contribution for establishing an endowed fund is $25,000, which may be contributed over a period of time. WSU's endowments range in value from $25,000 to more than $3 million.

When an endowed fund is established, it is named according to the donor's wishes. Many donors choose to name endowed funds to reflect a lasting legacy in their name or in the name of someone they wish to honor.

The entire WSU family salutes all of the generous individuals and organizations whose lasting influence will be felt through their establishment of or contribution to endowed funds. Listed in alphabetical order, the following endowments were established on or before June 30, 2007.
